

MMM Scotland Residential 2017
21-24 April
“NATURE & DANCE”

In 1943 Margaret Morris held a summer school in the rural region of Dumfries and Galloway in South West Scotland. In 2017 MMM Scotland will host a further residential dance course at the same location - Kilquhanity. In “Nature and Dance” we will explore how Margaret embraced elements of the Natural world in the movement she created and also used the natural environment as stimulus for our own creative improvisation, art, dance and choreography. Course teachers will be Chantal Bréavoine (MMM France), Janet Houselander (MMM England) and Sara Lockwood (MMM Scotland).

The Setting

Kilquhanity is part of four school sites based in Japan that have developed education inspired by the teachings of Aitkenhead, A.S. Neill and John Dewey amongst others. The essence of Kilquhanity since 1940 is as the focal point in Scotland for free, progressive and alternative education. The house, stables and surrounding buildings which comprise the site are surrounded by beautiful countryside making it a wonderful venue for enjoying the health and well-being and creativity of Margaret Morris Movement.
